To A Wild Rose.

Oh, thou lovely blushing rose
With thy tinted cheeks so fair,
Sparkling eyes with dewy lashes,
Thou art Heaven's gift so rare.
In thy face there shines a beauty
Simple, true, with love divine:
In thy eyes I see the image
Of thy maker and of mine.
On thy rosy lips the sunbeams
Linger, wishing never more to leave;
And thy fragrant breath the breezes
Bear away to cheer the grieved.
Oh, thou friend of every stranger!
Oh, thou flower of my heart!
Thou art gentle, true and tender,
Filled with love, and love thou art.

—M. P. C., '11

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

Y. M. C. A. AND Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION TO SENIORS.

On Friday evening occurred the annual reception to the Seniors by the Christian associations. The reception was given on the lawn in front of Canyon Hall. The lawn was neatly decorated with lanterns, hammocks and pillows, and a gala time was enjoyed by all present. The greater part of the evening was spent in playing games, after which strawberries and cream and cake were served. The piano was moved out on the lawn, and Miss Harriet Stuckey played a piano solo, and Miss Katherine Romig sang "The Holy City."

THE P. C.-ALUMNI BASEBALL GAME.

It is the same old tale that we have to tell about the annual baseball game with the alumni. P. C. came very near losing to the "fans" which "if it had happened" would have been the primus ever. The game was the closest and fastest ever played between these two teams, and looked serious to the lads until the last inning. "Rustie" pitched good ball, and after the second inning, when the boys made two marks, they went down as fast as they came to the bat. But after the last half of the last inning they began to hit the ball. They revised the score of 6-2 until it looked like 7-6 and did that after the second out. Smith and Hammer divided the six innings among themselves and each made good as a twirler. It was only by a wild throw that they scored on Mr. Hammer.

The alumni, helped greatly by a high school catcher, played steady with few errors, while the college boys were not so sure throwing. They did not play near the game that they did the day before when they marched Springbrook to the tune of 18-6.

ADDRESS TO LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The annual address to the literary societies was given Saturday evening in the college chapel, by Rev. J. E. Blair, of the Presbyterian church of this city. Haines Burgess, president of the Agoretton club, presided. Before the address the audience was favored by a selection by the Heliotone octette.

Rev. Blair's address was a volley of truth and hard common sense, backed by the enthusiasm and earnestness which characterizes his discourse. The theme of his speech was taken from the sentence, "Most of the teachers of our land are men of university training; they teach from the heart for character results." Rev. Blair outlined the fundamentals of a sound character. He said that character is habit crystalized. He spoke of the necessity of bodily and moral cleanliness, and said "Personal appearance not only reflects, but also reacts on character."

BACCALAUREATE SERMON.

President Kelsey preached the Baccalaureate sermon in the Friends church at 11 o'clock. He took for his text, "He that is greater among you, let him become as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve." The sermon was a wonderful development of the theme of true service in all the varied activities of life. The choir rendered as special numbers "Send out thy Light," and "Seek Ye the Lord," while Miss Maybelle Edwards sang the vocal solo "Gloria," and Miss Gregory played a violin solo.

ADDRESS BEFORE THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

The annual address before the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of the college was delivered by Rev. F. C. Stannard at the Friends church Sunday evening. A large audience was in attendance, and a masterful address was heard on the subject, "The Supreme Obligation." Rev. Stannard's theme was man's obligation to self. He said that a man's highest duty was not self-sacrifice, or service, but primarily, the development of character and training of self to the limit of one's possibilities. He said "God does not care so much what a man does, as what he is." He stated that more people underestimated than overestimated their own value, and that man should look for the height of his possibilities rather than feeling his humility. He then spoke of the nobility of self-sacrifice and service.

Rev. Stannard is back to his charge as pastor of the Baptist church for the coming year, and we gladly welcome him again.

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

There is no event of the college year which calls for such a crowd as the class day program given on Monday evening of Commencement week by the Seniors. And the usual crowd with the usual enthusiasm and the holiday spirit, assembled Monday evening to hear the Senior talent. The crowd which waited before the door was opened would do justice to an election day, and a grand rush for seats occurred at eight o'clock which required the efforts of all the ushers to prevent a miniature panic. The program was characterized by the same spice and good natured criticism as a class day usually affords. No event was so well received as the club drill given by Arthur Wilson in a dark room with illuminated clubs. Harry Maxfield, as Jenkins, in the play "Mr. Bob," was certainly fine. The drollery and dignity of Jenkins the butler was natural and persistent. Although all the faculty were severely criticized and corrected, they show no change, and persist in their old ways.

ACADEMY GRADUATING EXERCISES.

The graduating class of the academy are to be congratulated on the way they acquitted themselves on Tuesday afternoon at the annual commencement exercises of the academy. Every member of the class showed ability in the orations which were delivered. In thought and composition all the orations were well constructed, and would have been a credit to more advanced students. The three musical productions, consisting of a violin solo by Miss Doris Gregory, a vocal solo by Miss Nadine Bryan, and a piano solo by Prof. J. S. Carrick, were excellent. No artists are better received in Newberg than Miss Gregory and Prof. Carrick. The program was rendered as follows:

Invocation.....	Rev. Hamilton
Violin Solo, Selected.....	Miss Doris Gregory
Oration, Our Country's Progress.....	Ross A. Newby
Oration, Unknown Heros.....	Mabel Haworth
Oration, Education a Factor of Progress.....
.....	Claude C. Calkins
Oration, The Undesirable Citizen.....	Victor E. Rees
Vocal Solo, "Springtime".....	Miss Nadine Bryan
Oration, To Every Cause Its Champion...	Florence Rees
Oration, Every Man Has a Place.....	Claude A. Lewis
Oration, Newspapers and Their Influences...	Chris Smith
Presentation of Diplomas
Instrumental Solo, Selected.....	Prof. J. S. Carrick
Benediction.....	Rev. Isom P. Wooton

The Alumni Public Program.

The Alumni always have a treat for us in the public program given on Tuesday evening of Commencement week. This year they gave us a double portion. The program opened with a piano duet by Miss Jessie Britt and Mrs. C. B. Wilson. This was one of the best musical selections we have heard in Newberg, and we fain would have heard an encore, but we refrained in order to hear the principal address of the evening which was given by Atty. E. S. J. McAllister. Mr. McAllister is a fluent speaker, and talks with a rare self-confidence and force. And, more than that, his thoughts are true as truth itself. Mr. McAllister gave us a very optimistic view of the problem of the preservation of man, and closed by an appeal to us to serve by solving the problem of conservation of resources.

Miss Maybelle Edwards' solo was greatly appreciated.

Tom Richardson then gave a short speech, addressing his remarks especially to the class of '08. He gave practical advice about one's attitude toward life. He said: "Cultivate happiness," and speaking of life: "Don't go after it with an axe; don't get a hammer; carry a smile."

Annual Commencement Exercises.

On Wednesday at 10 a. m. occurred the Commencement exercises of the college which served as a fitting climax to the different events of Commencement week. It was a perfect program in every detail, and the Seniors did themselves very proud indeed. The graduates appeared for the first time in cap and gown. The class oration was delivered by Harry Maxfield. This was one of the best orations we have heard this year, even rivaling Harry's contest oration. Miss Bess La Verne Vickrey played "Faust" from Leybach with a polished and pleasing expression.

Aside from the class address, the crowning feature of the program was Mrs. W. Carlton Smith's singing. Her solo "Love's Way" was especially good.

Dr. Benjamin Young, pastor of the first M. E. church of Portland was the speaker of the day. Dr.

Young took for his theme the making of a man. He held the attention of his audience perfectly, and proved himself a speaker of unusual ability. The program was as follows:

Invocation.....	Rev. Isom P. Wooton
Instrumental Solo, Leybach.....	Bess La Verne Vickrey
Oration, Reason's Revelation.....	Harry Maxfield
Solo, (a) In a Foreign Land, (b) When Song is Sweet.....	Mrs. W. Carlton Smith
Class Address.....	Dr. Benjamin Young
Solo, Love's Way.....	Mrs. W. Carlton Smith
Conferring of Degrees.....	Pres. W. Irving Kelsey
Benediction.....	Rev. J. E. Blair

On Wednesday afternoon from the hours of three to five, President and Mrs. Kelsey received at their home the friends of the class of 1908 and the college, in honor of the graduates.

The absence of our exchange column in this issue is due to the fact that we are late in publishing, and most of the schools have closed for the year. The exchanges as a whole show a great improvement during the year, and would be a credit, many of them, to a professional publishing company. One can get a wide range of reading material in the exchanges; one can read the jokes and jingles, the short stories, good sensible editorials, or expositions on psychology of the arts. We are proud of our exchange list, and the exchanges on our table are well read by our students. We have received some especially neat cover designs this year. If there is any department of the college paper which should be emphasized more, it is the exchange department.

All who have been connected with the publication of the Crescent know that it is difficult to manage the financial side of the paper. Our subscription list is small and our advertisements do not pay for the printing. This has been an unusually hard year for our business managers, and this issue leaves us slightly in debt. If our subscribers who are not paid up to date would kindly remit at once, we would greatly appreciate their help. Advance subscriptions will also be gladly received.

A special effort has been made in the last few weeks to secure the names of prospective students for next year. A large mailing list was secured, and the new catalogues have been distributed with hopes of greatly filling up our ranks next year.

Students, dont forget Pacific College as you go knocking about the world this summer. We should talk Pacific everywhere we go, and not let an opportunity pass to influence some one to come to Pacific College as a student next year.

There has been considerable talk of raising the subscription price of the Crescent from fifty cents per annum to seventy-five cents or one dollar. We believe it will be necessary to do this, for some change must be made to keep up our paper. With an increased subscription price we could have more room in our paper for literary matter, and this is needed badly. Talk this over among yourselves and be able to vote intelligently on it when school begins next fall.

Locals.

The Florence Brown-Rowe Memorial prize of twenty-five dollars, given to the member of the Junior class making the highest average grades for the year, was awarded to Earnest Hadlock. Congratulations, Hadlock.

Eula Hodson, Pearl Moore and Joycie George attended the Y. W. C. A. conference at Seaside as delegates from the college association.

Considerable renovating will be done about the college building during the summer, preparatory to the next year of school.

Why didn't the Seniors read "Helen Keller" class day?

Prof. Hadley has declared his intention of working in the laboratory much of the summer, in order to arrange for next year's work. Biology is to be the major scientific study next year for laboratory students. Special efforts will be made to secure a large class, and make the study of more than usual importance. Several new instruments are to be secured. We have hopes of getting two new microscopes and several smaller instruments. Prof. Hadley will probably make a trip to the coast this summer to collect biological specimens.

Prof. Esther Andrews and her sister Edna, who have been in Newberg all winter, lately returned to their home in southern California. We shall be anxious to welcome them back to Newberg.

Prof. H. D. Crumly has a job of surveying up in the Cascades in Washington this summer. He has engaged in his chain gang Prof. Newlin, Riley Kaufman, Russell Lewis and Huber Haworth, with Clyde Carey to hand out the pork and beans. As it is a college crowd, they will undoubtedly do it in varsity style.

Commencement week is calculated to bring forth more bromidic expressions than any other time of the year. You hear "why, I can hardly realize it is all over," "I know I can never pass," "Hello, well, you couldn't stay away from Newberg," "O, they always come back to Newberg," and so weiter.

Our success in athletics has not been at all flattering this year, and yet we have done some very creditable work. All our athletes are young, and have had little experience. The rapid development they have shown speaks well for our future athletics. In both basket ball and track athletics, men who will sometime break college records are developing. Pacific College never has a large congregation of huskies, and our small number verifies the statement that "necessity makes the man." Some one must stand in the breach, and when it is up to a fellow, he can do it better than if he had to push through a crowd to get to the wall.

The week beginning May 18 will long be remembered for its exceptionally fine series of chapel talks. Mr. Lee lead chapel May 19 and gave a very much appreciated address. Mr. McMillan, International Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., told us of the summer conference of that body, on May 20. On May 21 Prof. Carrick and Miss Elsie Mackie rendered a number of musical selections which were much appreciated. On Friday, May 22, Walter Woodward spoke to us of university life as compared with college life, and gave us a graphic account of the reception of the fleet at San Francisco.

We have several prospective students who are promising athletes, some having won their spurs in other schools.

Great consternation reigned at the dormitory on the eve of May 26, when Harry White announced that he was unable to find ten of his neckties. Immediately a search was instituted which resulted not only in not finding the ten missing ties but in the discovery that there were missing also three overcoats and two whole suits from different rooms of the dormitory. From the vows of the boys and appearance of their darkened brows, it will not be well for him who has thus been restocking his wardrobe, to return to the dormitory.

R. D. K. (in Greek class)—"He rode sitting in his chariot, with his hand full of men."

The Yamhill County High School track meet which was to have been held May 16, on the college field, and which was postponed because of the rain till the following Saturday, resulted in Dayton taking first, Lafayette second, followed by Newberg third, and Dundee fourth.

Ray Pemberton of the class of '06 visited the college May 20.

Alumni Notes.

On Wednesday evening June 19, occurred the annual business meeting of the alumni at the parlors of the Imperial Hotel. The new officers elected are: president, W. S. Parker; vice-president and treasurer, E. A. Newby; secretary, Olive Stratton; baseball manager, Cecil J. Hoskins. At the invitation of the board of trustees, ten members of the alumni were nominated as members of the college corporation in accordance with the articles of reorganization. Those nominated were: A. C. Stanbrough, O. K. Edwards, R. W. Kirk, A. C. Martin, W. S. Parker, E. A. Newby, Marvin Blair, Carl Nelson, Cecil J. Hoskins, and Paul V. Maris. The meeting was largely attended and much interest was shown throughout. There was a marked determination to make the organization stronger and more effective than in the past. Following the business meeting a banquet was served in the dining room which was beautifully decorated in sword fern and white roses. A splendid five course dinner was served and followed by a spicy program, W. C. Woodward acting as toastmaster. Toasts were given as follows: "Fledglings," Cecil J. Hoskins; Response, Alice Hayes, '08; "And it came to pass in those days," Perry D. Macy; "Roughing It," Calvin Blair; "College Hims," Gertrude Lamb Whiteis; "Our Annexations," W. S. Parker. Miss Gregory was at her best in violin solos, also piano selections were rendered in an excellent manner by the Misses Richmond and Britt.

The alumni is glad to welcome into its ranks the class of '08.

Mrs. Gertrude Lamb Whiteis and Miss May Lamb both of the class of '99 were in attendance at the various Commencement exercises and are now visiting relatives and old friends.

Owen Maris '03 who is now with the U. S. National Bank of Portland spent Sunday with Newberg friends and attended the Baccalaureate services.

Walter L. Spaulding '07, returned from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he has been studying law, in time to take in the latter part of Commencement exercises.

With the exception of Aubrey Kramien of the educational department of the Y.M.C.A., at Bloomington, Ill., all members of the class of '04 were present at their class reunion held Wednesday afternoon. A pleasant and successful reunion is reported.

The first of the week, Paul V. Maris, '07, drove down from near Salem where he has been doing field work as State Food and Dairy Commissioner. He remained for the various Commencement exercises.
